Lantern 42439-3 "Cylinder"

The Traditional Family

With the task of creating an unpretentious and inexpensive lantern our workshop arrived at this design. The metal unit in the centre is made from brass and finished in nickel. The design is solely based on the technical necessities and completely abolishes any decorative details. The top part with the glass mounting is the only stylistic element. This unfolds its beauty only from the shape without any applications.

The glass cylinder is from lead-free glass and completely plain. As such this lantern is the most minimal variation of this general theme making it the perfect architectural element to match with almost every style.
